

Secure, compliant and ethical IT equipment disposal

One of the most important issues facing organisations today is how they deal with the secure and compliant disposal of IT equipment. This particularly rings true for organisations whose day-to-day operations revolve around the hosting of sensitive information.

New and existing government legislation, such as the Hazardous Waste Regulations and the Data Protection Act, mean that disposing of IT equipment has become highly regulated and failure to comply can cost an organisation dearly. These regulations, coupled with recent negative press coverage, demonstrate the importance, to all organisations, of having an IT equipment disposal policy.

www.WEEEdisposeofIT.com, Egton's IT disposal service, offers organisations total peace of mind. Our complete service disposes of all your unwanted IT equipment and ensures that you are fully compliant. Our service is highly accredited and fully licensed, backed by ISO 9001:2000 (quality) and ISO 14001:2004 (environmental). Furthermore, all data eradication is supported by £1m of Professional Indemnity Insurance.

www.WEEEdisposeofIT.com offers three service levels to organisations, further details on which can be found overleaf.

In addition, Egton is also able to offer enhanced services, including data archiving, secure tape and portable media disposal, a cradle to grave service and Secure Onsite, the secure disposal of IT assets on your premises.

Regardless of which service you decide upon, you are guaranteed that your redundant hardware will be disposed of in an environmental and ethical manner, ensuring all data is securely destroyed. Three solutions, three methods of secure IT asset disposal

The most comprehensive of our core solutions, Secure Premium offers you complete peace of mind when disposing of redundant IT assets.

Egton's Secure Premium solution is built on three key principles:

- Asset remarketing – unlocking latent value in your equipment
- Asset security – government CESA approved data removal
- Environmental disposal – non-landfill and legally compliant recycling.

Our specialist logistics team will collect your loose IT equipment, palletise and return it for testing. Every asset will be registered and uniquely bar coded to provide complete traceability. Equipment that can be remarketed will be sold via our multi-channel sales team, with any released revenue distributed on a profit share basis to offset service charges or provide you with a return on technology investment. Any equipment that cannot be resold is recycled and all data purged in accordance with the highest government and environmental legislation.

Egton's Secure Plus solution provides the same level of IT disposal as our Secure Premium service, without the option of remarketing your old IT equipment. All redundant equipment is collected, registered and bar coded, providing a comprehensive audit trail. All data is eradicated and physically destroyed to approved government CESA standards and equipment is recycled in accordance with waste legislation to ensure you are compliant.

Egton's Secure Lite solution provides a fully-licensed, accredited and professional service to remove unwanted IT equipment. All equipment is collected, recycled in accordance with the highest standards of environmental legislation and all data drives are destroyed to ensure sensitive data cannot enter the public domain.

Accountability

Egton's IT disposal services are backed by ISO 9001:2000 and ISO 14001:2004, our processing is fully Waste Management Licensed and any movement of material is covered by Waste Carrier Licensing.

All Egton customers will be issued with a full Certificate of Environmental Disposal and a Certificate of Data Eradication. In addition, all data eradication is covered by £1m of Professional Indemnity Insurance.
